

Smartphone

by Damion Hamilton

I believe in the Collective conscience
Of Mankind
Whatever the masses want

Comes into fruition
Some genius will create it

If we want war

We will get war
We don't want peace
So we never get it

Just consider

The smartphone

What a great device

It seems as if we should never

Be bored again

And believe me

I know what boredom is

I have a degree in it

But with the smartphone
I can always be engaged in something
Its hard to get bored
U have so many choices for entertainment
It seems like too many
You can get on your smartphone
Whenever you are bored
And believe me there is so much
    Boredom in this world
We bore ourselves to DEATH
I see people on their phones
    Everywhere
Waiting for buses and trains
    At work
While driving
Even in the bars and restaurants
We are so bored
And
I relate

Very few people
I know

Are where they want or need
To be

Don't blame me

That is the human condition

We are stuck somewhere

Somewhere we don't want to be

So we get on our smart phones

And go some where else

Of course.
