Neither star nor killer

by Emily Sparkles

I am fantasy I am object

You cannot hear me Nor see me You have shrouded me

You have placed me in your head You have made me And yet

If the mask is destroyed
If "I" am shattered
I will be

neither star nor killer of your reverie