

Ennui of Wings

by Gary Hardaway

Does flight exhilarate the sparrows or is it unremarkable for them as walking from the car to office is for me, routine, an act of dull necessity I undertake because I can and must so I can eat?

