

Man

by Jill Chan

There's not enough time for a man to choose to live.
There's not enough time
because we come back to the things we never learn and forget them.
Again and again,
God returns man's soul to him.
While the body corrupts,
he knows time
like he knows his age
as not just a number
but a desire,
a reaching.

