

Heartlong

by Mathew Paust

The head is good, but the heart will take awhile.

Reason understands the whys, and reason never lies,
Oh the ego had its fling, and the world then seemed to sing,
So easy 'twas to smile, as stars conspired to beguile,
But the joker showed its face, made the hand give up its ace, Now the head knows what it should, but the heart will take awhile.

