

55 words #5

by Bobbi Lurie

The specifics of the story expressed a tragedy of such magnitude that the limitations of the classics, of the sages and the traditions of the wise were glaringly, apparently untrue. Their secret teachings delineating specific steps on the quest and the stages of attainment, beautiful, yet neutral, an oversimplistic reading of the people we meet.

