Drummer Boy

A door slams.

The vibrations rattle through the floor, up his legs and into his chest. He can hear the yells, and the tears that mar her voice.

Rat-ta-tat Rat-ta-tat

A door slams.

Eyes closed while images of a life he will never live flicker on the backs of his eyelids.

He enters center stage, facing a quieted crowd. His arms poised, holding the silence until the soft-skinned snare ignites the stadium.

A door slams.

SLAM Rat-ta-tat Rat-ta-tat SLAM

His song will always contain the refrain of a slamming door.