

Six Short Poems

by JM Prescott

I Miss You

Today you miss this sunrise
this conversation
this story.

I see a little you in me
you'd be proud
I believe.

I miss you today.

#

Sail On

Can't please everyone
Or sail in all directions

Sail on Stay the course

Still the ill-pleased storms come To suck the wind from my sails

#

Haiku I

Wind tell me no lies Blow through me - and find my heart
I am never still.

#

Haiku II

Endless clouds of gray
Building a slow wall of mist,
Keeping me inside.

#

Inbetween Beliefs

I live inbetween beliefs

looking for faith in the middle

to trust myself
in the middle

to live beyond the inbetween

#

Tomorrow Isn't Telling

Now scares me

Not growth to come
But growth left behind
Can I move forward
Without losing
Tomorrow knows
And isn't telling

